Mindfulness In Motion

Anuja Rajendra is the founder and CEO of BollyFit®, a global wellness movement that draws together a richly diverse and inclusive community. Participants enjoy mindfulness in motion while embracing fitness, fun and illumination from within.

As a dynamic speaker and thought leader, Anuja's magnetism awakens audiences out of complacent listening and into fully present, engaged participation. The combination of energetic, unselfconscious movement on the outside and calm, centered self-awareness on the inside renewed her joyful spirit, and is what motivates her today to get people moving as she grows BollyFit's mindful and supportive community.

As a member of the Michigan Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports, Anuja passionately advocates for healthy and happy living, uplifting citizens while bringing down obesity rates.
